Example: $x^6 \cdot x^6 = (1.618034\dots)^6 - (1 - 1.618034\dots)^6 \sqrt{5}$. When I used a calculator on this (only entering the Golden Ratio to 6 decimal places) I got the answer 8.00000033, a more accurate calculation would be closer to 8. Try $n=12$ and see what you get.

For multiplication, use the * symbol. A * symbol is not necessary when multiplying a number by a variable. For instance: $2 * x$ can also be entered as $2x$. Similarly, $2 * (x + 5)$ can also be entered as $2(x + 5)$; $2x * (5)$ can be entered as $2x(5)$. The * is also optional when multiplying with parentheses, example: $(x + 1)(x - 1)$. If the initial term of an arithmetic sequence is a 1 and the common difference of successive members is d, then the nth term of the sequence is given by: $a_n = a_1 + (n - 1)d$. The sum of the first n terms S_n of an arithmetic sequence is calculated by the following formula:

$n..$ And x^{n-2} means the term before that one.. Let's try that Rule for the 6th term: $x^6 = x^{6-1} + x^{6-2}$. $x^6 = x^5 + x^4$. So term 6 equals term 5 plus term 4. We already know term 5 is 21 and term 4 is 13, so:

The arrangement of numbers from least to greatest is 2, 4, 6, 7, 9. Check whether the numbers are in ascending order: 3, 5, 6, 9. Yes, the given numbers are in ascending order since the numbers are in increasing order. Here, the first number is less than the second number, second number is less than the third number and so on.
